NAZI'S MECHANIZED MIGHT DRIVES INTO NORTH CAUCASUS

Red Defenders Of Stalingrad Wage Desperate Battle

BY EDDY GILMORE
Moscow, July 28—(AP)—Germany's mechanized might drove into the north Caucasus today over widened bridge-heads across the Don south of Tsimlyansk and the broken defenses of Novochoerkassk and Rostov in the gravest moment of the entire war for the Soviet Union.

Into the bid for conquest of the Caucasus—Russia's oil barrel and supply bridge to the south—the Germans hurled forces which Red Star, organ of the Russian army, said were "many times superior" to the number of the defenders.

Hammering toward the last rail line linking Stalingrad to the Caucasus, the Germans were said to have made a new crossing of the Don in the Tsimlyansk sector, where the Don flows within 50 miles of the railway.

The defenders of Stalingrad, however, were reported to have repulsed repeated tank and motorized infantry attacks deep in the Don's big bend close to the mighty Volga.

(The German high command said its forces had widened and deepened their penetrations south of the Don and had reached or crossed the river along virtually the entire eastward bend.)

One Soviet force was reported to have destroyed 25 German tanks and killed 700 of the invaders yesterday on the steppes that lead to the high bank of the Don as close as 50 miles to Stalingrad, industrial city on the Volga.

Russian fliers were credited also with demolishing or damaging 7 German planes on the ground and shooting down three Messerschmitt 109 fighters.

Soviet publications stressed the gravity of the loss of Rostov and Novochoerkassk positions and Russian pleas for the opening of a second Allied front were recalled by a declaration of Pravda that the Germans had withdrawn eleven divisions from France to effect the breakthrough.

The invaders were half-way along on their task of isolating the trans-Caucasus, with its riches in oil, wheat, metals and timber, reaching eastward toward the Volga and the Caspian sea. However, it is some 700 miles from Rostov to Baku, the Caspian oil port in the south Caucasus—about 10 miles farther than from the old Polish frontier to Rostov.

Overwhelming German attacks finally forced Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's divisions of the extreme left to withdraw to unspecified positions south of the Don, which flows into the Azov sea 25 miles below Rostov's battered wharves and shipyards.

Northeastward, the Germans apparently continued to cross the river in a section of the strategic area between Rostov and Stalingrad. Reserves replaced the thousands of Nazi dead reported littering the banks or floating seaward with the wreckage of pontoons smashed by Russian shells and bombs.

A Russian communique said last night that "our troops have evacuated Novochoerkassk and Rostov." There was no confirmation, however, of German claims of the capture of Bataisk, 15 miles south of Rostov on the main rail line to the Caucasus oilfields and oil ports.

Industries In Midlands Are Raid Targets

London, July 28—(P)—Birmingham, big British industrial center in the Midlands was bombed last night in an attack which cost the Germans eight out of 50 to 70 raiders, and incendiaries fell in the greater London district, which had its first night alarm since June 3.

A ninth German bomber was reported shot down this morning off the southwest coast.

"Enemy action last night was a somewhat larger scale than in some time past," a communique said. "Fires and damage were caused in the Birmingham area, where there also were a number of casualties."

Scattered bombings caused some damage elsewhere through the Midlands and eastern counties. Many fires were started in Birmingham and casualties were reported. The greatest damage was sustained by homes and shops and a large hospital was emptied when a delayed action bomb fell nearby.

A number of fire bombs fell in the London area, but no damage was reported.

The RAF's bombers, which Sunday night bombed the German port of Hamburg in a 600-bomb assault, stayed home last night.

BRITISH LASH ANEW ON THE DESERT FRONT

Severe Fighting Breaks Out In Northern Sector of the El Alamein District, Report Says

SUEZ CANAL ATTACKED

BY EDWARD KENNEDY
Cairo, July 28—(P)—Harassed by new British land and aerial counter-thrusts, Field Marshal Rommel's African army appeared today, after the latest flareup of fighting, to be digging in for an attempt to hold its forward positions 75 to 80 miles from Alexandria rather than try to drive on toward the Nile delta and Suez.

Fighting went on through last night in the newest British blow at the northern flank of the front where the battle has seen-sawed for four weeks since Gen. Sir Claude Auchinleck's troops brought Rommel's long push to a standstill.

Some prisoners were taken in the fight, and losses were inflicted upon the Axis forces, but there was no indication that any large, permanent wedge had been driven in the Axis line. In some places imperial troops dropped back to their original positions.

The Axis forces met the foray definitely on the defensive, and made no immediate move to hit back.

Both sides are racing to get more men and material. British headquarters described the flareup of fighting on the north flank as severe.

The British attack was launched Sunday night and the severe fighting which followed was accompanied by heavy artillery duels, the communique said. Light (Turn to Page Nine)

POSTAL CLERKS HEAR SECOND FRONT ADVICE

Uniontown, July 28—(P)—"While we are all eager for a second front we must not make the mistake of striking too soon with too little," Rep. Jennings Randolph (D-W Va.) told the Pennsylvania Federation of Postoffice clerks at their convention yesterday.

The West Virginian congressman predicted that large-scale air raids on Germany by American and British fliers would "by early winter begin to turn the scales for victory for the Allied nations."

Scranton was selected as the site for the 1943 convention.

FIVE REPORTED DEAD IN BARGE EXPLOSION

Paduach, Ky., July 28—(P)—Five men were reported killed today in a blast on an empty gasoline barge moored to a landing on the Illinois side of the Ohio river near here.

Police Chief W. E. Bryant said he was told that the bodies of five men could be seen lying on the burning barge. A sixth man, he said, was blown clear of the barge by the blast.

Names of the victims were not immediately available.

Senator Wants Japs On Aleutians Ejected

San Francisco, July 28—(P)—Sen. Earl Warren (D-Calif.) says higher-ups in Washington are responsible for the failure of American forces to drive the Japanese invaders out of the Aleutian Islands.

"I can't especially find any criticism of the army and navy," Warren said in an interview.

"But I think the higher-ups in Washington, who determine strategy, should take steps to drive them out immediately. They're digging in an entrenching themselves daily."

Warren is a member of a senate military affairs sub-committee that is awaiting approval of the army for a trip to Alaska to investigate the nation's defenses there.

Late Associated Press Bulletins

New York, July 28—(P)—The British radio reported today that 40 German soldiers were killed in the wrecking of a troop train by saboteurs between Paris and Cherbourg. The BBC, heard here by CBS, said the Nazis were en route to Paris on leave.

Ailing Elephant Put to Death in Chicago

Chicago, July 28—(P)—A big game hunter from the Field Museum killed Deed-a-Day, the popular elephant of Lincoln Park zoo, with a single shot to the brain from a heavy rifle today when the experts decided there was no cure for her ailment, apparently a gargantuan stomach ache.

Director Floyd Young of the zoo sorrowfully ordered the execution of the beast presented to the institution in 1924 by the Boy Scouts of Chicago.

Deed-a-Day, middle aged at 25, for elephants, had lost 1,000 pounds from her four-ton frame.

Shipping Sunk By Axis Subs Now Over 400

Western Atlantic Has Become Grave of More Than 2,000 Seamen and Passengers

ONION BOAT IS SUNK

By the Associated Press
The toll of merchant shipping sunk by enemy submarines on the very doorstep of the Americas has topped the 400-mark and the western Atlantic has become the grave of more than 2,000 seamen and passengers since Pearl Harbor.

Figures tabulated by the Associated Press yesterday as the sinking in those waters reached 401 showed that at least 1,620 more crewmen or passengers were missing after attacks by the undersea raiders, while 11,766 persons have been rescued.

For the 400th acknowledged victim, a u-boat chose the smallest try in the 233 days of their preying on Allied or neutral shipping off American shores—a 16-ton onion boat just out of Havana. The sub's crew, apparently running out of rations, helped itself to 40,000 pounds of onions, canned goods and a quantity of diesel oil from the vessel.

Later yesterday the Mexican government announced the sinking Sunday morning in the Gulf of Mexico of the Mexican freighter Oaxaca, for the fifth Mexican victim of the war and the 401st on the grand total of Allied or neutral ships destroyed.

The state department last night announced a new type of project expected to cut the number of sinkings in the Caribbean and the Gulf of Mexico.

In cooperation with the United States, the department said, the central American republics of Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras (Turn to Page Nine)

Steel Probe Is Proposed

Washington, July 28—(P)—Senator Truman (D-Mo.) proposes to go into the whole steel program "and find out exactly why we are short and why it is necessary to shut off the shipbuilding program because of a shortage of steel."

He called the attention of the senate yesterday "to the fact that advertisements are being run now in the great metropolitan newspapers by the United States Steel Corporation and the Bethlehem Steel Corporation and others of the steel group, explaining very explicitly how they have expanded steel production."

Truman, who is chairman of a special committee to investigate the national defense program, said he thought that the investigation of the whole steel program which the committee is scheduled to open August 6, was one of the reasons for "this hurry" in the effort of the steel companies "to build up public opinion on their side of the controversy."

Sunday, he closed his parish for "summer vacation," packed his bag and started for this city. He arrived yesterday.

SHORTAGE OF HELP IS FELT AT HUNTINGDON

Huntingdon, July 28—(P)—"Thirty-eight staff vacancies remain unfilled in a labor shortage at the Pennsylvania Industrial School for Boys here, scene of a week-end stabbing and escape, Commander John D. Pennington, superintendent, said today.

"We're undermanned and have 38 vacancies," he declared. Several other state institutions have reported a similar inability to find both trained and untrained help.

The school, Pennington said, remains the Pennsylvania Industrial School, although it is being transformed into an institution for delinquent offenders.

LOCAL TRAIN SERVICE TO BE CURTAILED

Transportation Director Reveals Plan to Do Away With Runs Duplicating Bus Schedules

NEEDS ROLLING STOCK

Washington, July 28—(P)—Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman said today that, despite some local dislocations and inconveniences, local train service probably would be discontinued for the duration of the war in places where duplicating bus service is reasonably adequate.

Disclosing that he had requested state public service commissions to survey local rail and bus passenger service with the view of releasing engines and cars for more important service, Eastman declared that "unnecessary duplicate service must clearly be avoided."

Commuters' trains would not be affected, he indicated.

"In all such cases where the bus service is reasonably adequate, it would seem that, under present conditions, the local train service should be discontinued and the equipment placed in more important uses. This should be done in spite of some degree of local dislocations and inconveniences, for the war time needs of the nation must be paramount."

Eastman requested specifically that all applications for discontinuance of services now pending before the state commissions be expedited, and that as many requests as possible be granted.

"It may be and possibly is the case that there are situations where duplicate train and bus services exist, and where the bus service could be discontinued with less inconvenience to the public than the train service," his letter said.

Pastor Fights Charges That He Is A Spy

Hartford, Conn., July 28—(P)—The first spy trial in modern times in Connecticut opened here today with a German-born, naturalized Philadelphia pastor charged with having permitted his parsonage to be used as a Nazi espionage ring forwarding address.

In a courtroom packed with prospective jurors, witnesses and spectators the defendant, the Rev. Kurt E. B. Molzahn sat calmly before his counsel as Federal Judge J. Joseph Smith opened the proceedings by calling upon the 34 prospective male and female jurors to say whether any reason existed why any could not serve on an espionage case.

Not answered. Then all were shepherded into the office of the United States marshal and Judge Smith declared a short recess preparatory to examining individual jurors.

Originally accused with him, but who have since pleaded guilty were Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, 36, former leader of the German-American band; Anastase Vonsiaty of Putnam, former head of the All-Russian Fascist party; Dr. Otto Willmet of Chicago and Dr. Wolfgang Ebbl of El Paso, Tex.

The others were Gerhard Wilhelm Kunze, 36, former leader of the German-American band; Anastase Vonsiaty of Putnam, former head of the All-Russian Fascist party; Dr. Otto Willmet of Chicago and Dr. Wolfgang Ebbl of El Paso, Tex.

The pastor, naturalized in 1940, has been serving the church since 1924.

Federal Bureau of Investigation agents charged that he had used his parsonage as a "postoffice" for a Nazi spy ring.

This he denied and his parishioners raised $25,000 bail for his release.

Sunday, he closed his parish for "summer vacation," packed his bag and started for this city. He arrived yesterday.

Have You Seen These Suspects?

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover reveals that three highly trained confederates of the eight Nazi saboteurs now on trial are still at large. They are, according to the FBI, left to right, Rudolf Barth, Joseph Schmidt and Walter Kappe, described as the ringleader.

Storm Halts Traffic In Philadelphia

Thousands of Homeward Bound Workmen Delayed When Subway Is Tied Up

TROLLEYS ARE STALLED

Philadelphia, July 28—(P)—Rail and automobile traffic was halted for nearly three hours in some sections of Philadelphia early last night as the heaviest storm of the summer struck the city.

Coming shortly after the peak of the rush hour, the storm delayed thousands of homeward bound workers. Damage was widespread as water flooded homes and buildings.

The Broad Street subway was idle for two hours and 45 minutes after water short circuited the third rail, and an estimated 5,000 persons were trapped in cars between stations. Trolley cars were stalled throughout the city as power lines failed.

Low-lying streets in the downtown section were turned into lakes, marooning office workers in building lobbies.

Across the river in Camden, a bus stalled in five and one-half feet of water under a viaduct. Nearby, 12 dogs in a pound were endangered by swiftly rising water. The bus driver stripped to his underclothing, swam to the pound and hacked off the locks to free the animals.

The storm, accompanied by heavy thunder and flashes of lightning, rounded out a week-end of eastern Pennsylvania flash floods in which two persons were drowned at Lancaster.

PELLEY GOES ON TRIAL INSTEAD OF TO PRISON

Indianapolis, Ind., July 28—(P)—Dapper, goateed William Dudley Pelley, the former leader of the Silver Shirts of America who was to have gone to prison in North Carolina yesterday, went on trial in federal court today on charges of sedition.

A capias for Pelley was issued at Asheville, N. C., yesterday after he failed to appear to begin a two to three year sentence for violating state security laws. He also is one of 28 persons indicted in Washington last week on sedition charges.

HIGGINS PROTEST IS CARRIED TO SENATE

Washington, July 28—(P)—Andrew Jackson Higgins carried his protest against cancellation of a maritime commission contract for 200 Liberty ships to the senate today, with the complaint that "a dog shouldn't have been treated" as he said he had been.

He told a senate defense investigating committee he was notified at 11:30 a. m. Saturday, July 18, of the cancellation of contracts of the Higgins Corporation, at New Orleans, by telephone and telegram.

Prices Continue to Rise In Spite of Industrial Upturn

State College, July 28—(P)—Food prices continued to advance last month as Pennsylvania industrial activity reached a new all-time peak, the Pennsylvania State College reported today.

The college's monthly business survey said gains in unregulated food prices nullified the effects of control on other items, pointing out:

"Only 60 per cent of the foods are now regulated, and even some of the regulated prices have recently been boosted."

Crediting "the impetus of accelerated war activity which more than offset curtailment in civilian production," the report said the index of industrial activity reached 189.5 in comparison with 185.5 for May. A year ago the index stood at 164.3.

Anniversary Of First War Is Unnoticed

By the Associated Press
An anniversary passed without notice in warring Europe today was that of the Austrian declaration of war on Serbia 28 years ago.

Austria, dissatisfied with amends Serbia was willing to make for the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand at Sarajevo, took the first belligerent step in a conflict which became World War No. 1 and which ultimately resulted in the dismemberment of the Austro-Hungarian monarchy.

The archduke, heir to Franz Joseph's throne, and his wife were slain by Gavrilo Princip on June 28, 1914, on a street in Sarajevo, where Franz Ferdinand was making a state visit.

On July 23, 1914, Austria presented an ultimatum listing sweeping demands. She insisted on a purge of all elements in Serbia hostile to the Hapsburg monarchy and demanded that Austrian officers be allowed to conduct the purge.

Serbia made far-reaching concessions. But they were inadequate, Austria held, and war was declared July 28, 1914, a month after the assassination.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR HIKING COAL OUTPUT

Harrisburg, July 28—(P)—Further increases in anthracite production must come through longer hours or additional miners, Mark S. James, commerce secretary believes.

Declaring that Pennsylvania hard coal mines are operating at 100 per cent of capacity, James said only the United mine workers and the operators could lengthen the work week.

The anthracite committee, which James heads, yesterday set a week's production quota of 1,210,360 tons, representing five days' work. The quota was the same as last week's.

Stiff Sentences Are Handed Tire Thieves

Greensburg, July 28—(P)—Auto tire thieves can expect no leniency from him, Judge George H. McWherter said today as he sentenced John Kuhns, of Latrobe, and Charles Ross, of Youngstown, Pa., to four to eight months in Allegheny county workhouse on a charge of stealing tires.

The other Latrobe youths, Paul Gleckl and Charles Lohr, were fined and placed on probation. Gleckl was fined $100 and costs and given a five year suspended sentence and Lohr was fined $250 and given a five year suspended sentence.

"Let everyone in this courtroom understand that anyone stealing auto tires can expect no leniency from this court," Judge McWherter stated.

The four youths were charged with stealing tires from Frank Kelly, New Alexandria, R. D. 1, on May 23 and with the theft of a tire and wheel from Ernest Palmer, McChesneytown, on May 13.

Only 4 Days Left To Reach Our Goal

Goal $20,000
Contributions To Date $8,135.00

Measured by five important series, industrial activity was 15 per cent above that of the previous June. All-time records were reported for factory employment and payrolls, industrial power sales, steel production, and telephones in service. Bituminous coal production was at the highest level in over 16 years.

Bank debts were the largest for the month since 1930 and anthracite coal since 1935. Building contracts also were at the highest for the period in recent years.

On the other hand, such important series as life insurance sales, building permits, new car and truck sales, postal receipts, independent store sales, carloadings, and newspaper advertising lineage showed losses.

PRESIDENT'S POWERS ARE CHALLENGED

Supreme Court Calls Special Term to Hear Pleas of Alleged Saboteurs for Habeas Corpus Writs

PETITIONS PREPARED

Washington, July 28—(P)—A possibility that President Roosevelt's wartime powers might be tested by the United States supreme court arose today as the nation's highest tribunal interrupted its summer recess to determine whether any of the alleged Nazi saboteurs on trial before a secret military commission are entitled to the processes prescribed by the bill of rights.

Chief Justice Harlan F. Stone announced through the court clerk that a special term would be held tomorrow so that counsel for "certain of the prisoners may apply for habeas corpus writs. If the court should decide to entertain the petitions, and then grant them, the case might be transferred to a federal district court.

In appointing a military commission to try the eight suspects secretly "for offenses against the law of war and the articles of war," President Roosevelt issued a proclamation denying any appeal to civil courts by persons who have entered the country since the war for the purpose of committing hostile acts against the government.

Informed persons, who withheld the use of their names, said petitions would be presented on behalf of seven of the eight defendants, whose testimony was completed before the military tribunal yesterday after a 16 day hearing. It was conjectured unofficially that the eighth defendant was George John Dasch, who has been represented by separate counsel.

Runoff To Be Held In Texas

Dallas, July 28—(P)—Senator W. Lee O'Daniel, he of the "faint gonna be a senator" will be into one against James V. Alfred August 22, and the Texas congressional delegation is heading homeward almost en masse "for a little Texas sunshine."

Whether the congressmen will play a part in O'Daniel's bid for a second senatorial term caused lively speculation, but there has been no answer.

With only two per cent of the votes in the Democratic primary uncounted, the Texas election board declared that a runoff August 22 was assured.

With 189 counties complete out of 254, O'Daniel's vote was 464,246 or 48.31 per cent; Alfred's 308,850, or 32.13 per cent; Dan Moody's 175,758, or 18.28 per cent; and Floyd E. Ryan's, 12,278. A runoff is required unless one candidate gets a majority. The Democratic nomination is equivalent to election.

MOTHER IS CHARGED WITH SHOOTING LAD

Somerset, July 28—(P)—Seven-year-old Emmet Sullivan, Jr., was reported in a serious condition at Somerset Community Hospital today, his lung wounded by a bullet which Chief Detective Harry C. Jacobs said the boy's mother fired.

Jacobs said the mother, after firing several practice shots in the yard of her Rockwood home yesterday, walked into the house and told her boy, "I am going to shoot you."

Then, Jacobs reported, she fired at the boy with a .22 caliber rifle.

Air Warning System Will Be Explained

A large attendance is expected at the high school auditorium this evening when representatives of the U. S. Army's First Fighter Command, with headquarters in Buffalo, will show pictures and speak on the work of the air observation system which has been established to check on airplane activities for the army.

Observers from the various air warning posts in the district are expected to attend the meeting and anyone interested in this work is invited to be present.

Here to conduct the meeting tonight, as well as similar gatherings in other parts of the county during the week, are Sgt. John C. Williams and Pvt. Joseph J. Loden, of the First Fighter Command.

The men held a similar meeting in Sheffield last evening, attended by about sixty persons.

Other meetings scheduled in the county this week are as follows: Wednesday—Youngsville, American Legion rooms; Thursday—Endeavor, Community House; Friday—Tidioute, Gymnasium Hall.

Special Show Presented at Outing Club

Something new in floor show entertainment will be presented at the Marconi Outing Club this week when the club's first "production revue" will be offered for members and their ladies.

Highlighting the revue will be the six Margaret Faber dancers in a return engagement which will offer numbers entirely new to Warren folks. Specialties will include Memory Lane, Flower Medley, Paper Doll and Boogie numbers.

This mid-summer revue should be one of the finest yet seen here. Also on the program this week at the Marconi Outing Club is Dotty Ard, outstanding singer of songs, who is being held for a second week. Completing the program is the comedy team of Gregory and Irene.

It was announced this morning that at the Marconi Club in town, a special lunch will be served for all special members this evening.

One workman was severely burned and one building was destroyed by fire which followed an explosion at the Ideal Farms, three miles east of Kane on the Mt. Jewett road, Saturday afternoon. Walter Olson, 45, of Kane, is a patient in the Kane Community Hospital with burns about the face, shoulders, knees, hands and arms. The explosion occurred in the eastern end of the main cow barn, flames communicating to the "hay keeper" building a few feet away.

MINOR ACCIDENT

A slight accident occurred about 6:25 p. m. yesterday at the intersection of Onondaga avenue and Crescent Park when an automobile driven by Albert Timmons, 128 East Wayne street, struck the rear of a parked car on Onondaga avenue, owned by Benton B. Baisrow, 302 1/2 East Fifth avenue. Timmons' car, according to the police report, is said to have broken a steering knuckle as Timmons turned into Onondaga avenue off Crescent Park, and he was unable to avoid striking the other vehicle. Damage was slight.

PASTOR WRITES ARTICLE

An article by Dr. James A. Davidson appears in the last issue of the Western Pennsylvania Historical Magazine for June 1942 which has been received by the public library. This article, "Social Life and Church Discipline Among Baptist Churches on the Western Pennsylvania Frontier," was read by Dr. Davidson at a meeting of the Historical Society of Western Pennsylvania on May 27, 1941. It represented in part his research in connection with his graduate work at the University of Pittsburgh. The careful examination and interpretation of certain source materials of unusual interest has resulted in an informative and revealing piece of work on frontier life in western Pennsylvania.

At the South Side playground, the inside of the wading pool has been repainted. All of the three play areas are now in a sanitary condition, Mr. Kolpien said.

ALERTNESS PAYS

Alertness on the part of a local garage employee was largely responsible for the recovery of a car which had been stolen in Kane, it was reported today. The incident occurred last Friday night when a motorist stopped at the Pontiac garage to obtain gasoline. After having the tank filled, the driver said he had no money but offered to leave his spare tire instead. After the man left, the employee, Charles Steadman, became suspicious and called local police. Word was sent out to neighboring towns and a short time later the man was apprehended at Jamestown. The car was returned later to the owner in Kane.

English traffic authorities recommend the liberal use of white paint on centers of roads and streets, curbs and obstructions, as well as on bumpers and fenders, as a safety measure during blackouts.

TIPS FOR SELECTEES

With two selectee groups scheduled to leave Warren within ten days or two weeks, the tips offered by a private who used to be a reporter, to the new soldiers going to camp as to what to take and what not to be bothered with, should prove very timely. These are the things he says it's well to have:

Shower boots. The cot will be a long way from the shower room. Let them be of rubber, if possible, for quiet and quick drying.

Plain white underwear. Colors are not used.

Plain white or brown sock. The army is generous but no soldier ever has enough.

Talcum and shaving cream. Leather shaving kit is useful.

Address book. Half-dozen wire coat hangers and a ten-foot length of clothes-line. Few extra towels and handkerchiefs. Swimming trunks. Sewing kit. A light-weight letter-writing kit always helps.

Let him leave at home all those extra civilian clothes except one change of shirt and undies to hold over till the Army outfits him. He just has to send the civvies home. Better not take radio and camera. Some camps ban them.

These sound like useful tips. The main thing is not to clog up small quarters at camp with useless luggage, or be obliged to send it home.

If friends will consider this list and make gifts accordingly, the soldier will find himself at camp with quarters containing what he needs, and uncluttered with useless gadgets which become a nuisance instead of a comfort.

LESS PHONE TALK

"Another thing wrong nowadays," comments an exchange, "is too much talk. Especially telephone talk."

The mayor of a midwestern city tackles the problem by a curt order to all city employees to "strip telephone conversations of all pleasantries and collateral matter." His formula is: "Discuss your business briefly, hang up, and give somebody else a chance to use the line."

The mayor is not concerned merely with the expedition of public business locally. He observes the "congestion on long-distance calls is occurring, and seriously hampering the Army and Navy departments."

It should be obvious that reforms in the use of the telephone is called for in private life no less than in public.

With such an immense amount of abnormal business that has to be transacted by telephone nowadays, there should be fewer private calls made, and the private conversations should be shorter.

The board of health along with borough officials, are to be complimented for measures adopted to clean up Beaty field and playgrounds. There is still plenty of work to be done, and parents should make certain that children remain away from the area as well as other playgrounds until it has been determined definitely that there is no danger of contamination.

An open letter in this issue calls attention to the fact that the appeal for flood sufferers in neighboring counties has gone practically unheeded in this community. It will require a huge sum to rehabilitate the towns visited by the flash flood, and the money can only come from the public. How about sending in your donation?

Another of those delightful concerts will be given by the massed bands Wednesday evening at the Beaty school. You'll have to be on hand early to secure a seat and don't forget to have change for the collection, to help defray expenses of music.

The county is still approximately $75,000 below the July quota in the purchase of War Savings Stamps and Bonds. The goal still may be reached if every person will do his part. Buy them at any store, theatre or bank, and secure them today.

It's encouraging to note that Victory Gardens, undated by the high water of a week ago, were not entirely ruined and seem to be coming back most surprisingly.

Seems as though it would be a good time now, after the July flash flood, to have engineers make a thorough inspection of the Hickory street bridge.

DO NOT TELL!

WASHINGTON IN WARTIME

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—The Capital in Wartime:

He's the head of the multigraph and mimeograph division of one of our war agencies. He called his procurement department and told them that he had to have, as soon as possible, a can of talcum powder. (As nearly as I can get it, it is used as an ink dryer for rapid duplications.)

A week went by and no can of talcum. After his fourth frantic call, he was informed: "We are getting that from the source of supply, which is the middle west. It ought to be along any day now."

Ten days later, after numerous additional frantic pleas, the order came through—24 cans of talcum powder.

The division chief, tearing out his mustache, whisker at a time, finally got the procurement boss on the phone. "Why," he shouted, "24 cans?"

"We save a cent a can that way," procurement answered proudly.

The m. and m. division head nearly fainted. Before hanging up, he said weakly: "But man, don't you know that 24 cans will last us exactly 24 years?"

FEW congressmen who have been on the war front observation lines have made such an impression on Washington as (Sen.) Maj. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who has just returned from Egypt, where he witnessed first-hand Rommel's drive across the Egyptian-Libyan border.

MAN ABOUT MANHATTAN

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Wartime Washington is a puzzle that even Professor Edward Lindeman of the New York School of Social Work can't unravel. During a brief stopover there, Professor Lindeman telephoned about a dozen high ranking officials whom he knows intimately. All were delighted to hear his voice but regretted they wouldn't be able to take time off for a little social powwow. "Too busy," they explained. Then the professor telephoned the White House and was at once connected with Mrs. Roosevelt. . . . Not only did the First Lady insist on seeing him, she showed the President's dinner hour ahead one full hour so that Professor Lindeman could have dinner at the White House and still make his train back to New York.

THE current No. 1 tune on the hit parade is "One Dozen Roses." . . . It was written by a band leader who has never played in New York City—Dick Jurgens. But if he hasn't tuned in in the big town, he has more than killed in the other towns of the nation. His maiden visit to Manhattan will be in September, for $7500 a week. He will play the Strand, on Broadway, a house that goes heavily for name bands and features such organizations as the Kayser, Dorsey, and Kaye regularly. . . . Dick Jurgens is a Sacramento, Calif., boy who emerged from an accident with

On the record and off, the Massachusetts Republican Senator has had a lot to say about the performance of American tanks, desert warfare, the Nazis' 88-mm anti-tank gun, and the sly strategy of that wily desert rat, Rommel.

Even his on-the-record comments have been most revealing and what he had to report to the War Department must have been just a shade short of sensational. Still, the Senator's military observations are just a minor flurry compared to the political whirlwind he has kicked up.

IT STARTED when Secretary of War Stimson (Republican), but all-out anti-isolationist) wrote Senator Lodge (formerly identified as a member of the isolationist bloc, but No. 1 member of the upper house to leap into the thick of war) a highly commendatory letter, suggesting that his continued service in the senate would be most valuable.

Senator Lodge is up for re-election. His opponent is Rep. Joseph E. Casey (Democrat) who has been anything but isolationist. The campaign is a hot one. That letter could be vitally important. But no sooner had the Secretary of War protested that the letter had no political significance than out came the White House with instructions to put ALL congressmen in the army, navy, etc., on inactive status.

The implication—that military-minded members of congress are more important in the legislative body than on the war fronts.

his lips so badly bruised that he didn't play his trumpet. Wherefore he acquired a baton and has been a leader ever since. Other hit tunes by Jurgens: "Elmer's Tune," and "Careless."

MY good friend, Basil Fomene, sends in a note from Atlantic City: "Have been all over the place since seeing you. From Ciro's in Hollywood, I went to Brazil's Copacabana, but chased back here when war was declared to see what I could do about joining the army. But despite the fact that I speak five languages and spent three years on the Russian front, I am still waiting to be called. Went on to Detroit and then back to New York to make some recordings, thence to this town. . . . The crowds here have been tremendous and the Ritz Merry-Go-Round grill appears to be one of the most popular spots in town."

Note: Basil Fomene was a Russian officer in the last war ("White Russian," he always points out) and came to America to see what the Land of Liberty and his skill with an accordion could do for him. He still smokes those long Russian cigarettes, which his mother makes for him. He also invents strange musical instruments which emulate an entire orchestra in sound. His book, "Songs of Inspiration" is a collection of more than a score of his own lullabies and ballads ranging from gypsy laments to Russian love songs.

The Warren band is preparing to give a concert at the North Warren Hospital within the next two weeks. Director Clark and his musicians are to be commended for offering without compensation to provide an evening of entertainment for the inmates and employees of the institution.

The Order of Eagles, who several months ago purchased a valuable building site on Pennsylvania avenue between Liberty and Market streets, have decided to begin building operations this fall by placing a basement which will entirely cover the lot.

Miss Edith Blodgett, Roy Blodgett and M. J. Blodgett, of Chicago, motored to Sugar Grove Wednesday, where they were guests of friends.

George L. Craft, accompanied by his daughter, Miss Elizabeth and Joseph DeFrees, left last night for Atlantic City. Later Mr. DeFrees will go on to Boston.

The Warren Bankers added another game to their long list of victories last night at Beaty field when they defeated the Postoffice team by a score of 12-1. Branch pitched a steady game for the money men, allowing only three hits.

In 1932

Introduction in the state senate by Senator LeRoy Chapman, of this city, of a bill providing for repeal of the primary law has created considerable comment among political leaders as well as prominent editorial writers.

Bob Weakley has returned from Canada where he spent a few days fishing. He brought back about thirty-five fish, including a muskallunge that weighed over 35 pounds, which he caught.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Young and son, of Charleston, S. C., are visiting relatives in Warren. Mr. Young was formerly assistant secretary of the local Y. M. C. A.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars band of Warren took first place in the band contest held last evening in the Community Hall at Marienville in connection with the centennial celebration of that town.

Mohr Printers took a 14-11 decision from the Evangelicals on the South Side diamond Monday evening. Greenlund and Juilne each turned in a home run for the Printers, while Pray collected two circuit hits for the churchmen.

Syriously-It's A Hamster

Shake hands with the new addition to the laboratory staff of the vitamin scientists. He's the Syrian Hamster, and he reacts just like a human to a deficiency of niacin, the pellagra preventive. A native of the Near East, he's a rarity in this country and worth $4 on the hoof, in case you want to take up Hamster ranching. Animal is shown actual size.

Annual Auto Tour Planned On Thursday

The 15th annual Warren County Farmers' Auto Tour will be held Thursday with a large number expected to take this opportunity to inspect the various types of farm projects in the county. It was announced today by County Farm Agent O. C. Tritt.

Due to the tire situation, the tour this year will be entirely within the county, but the program planned for the farmers is expected to be fully as interesting as those in the past when a wider range of farms was visited.

The group will convene at the County Home at 9:30 o'clock Thursday morning and will visit eight farms in the western part of the county.

Farms to be visited include: County Home, Youngsville; Harry Long, Pittsfield; Stanley Leofsky, Garland; Clarence Rhinehart, Toledo; Leigh Smith, Trimmis Corners; W. L. Armitage, Spring Creek; Ralph Swart, Spring Creek; and F. L. and Leslie Dodd, Columbus.

Among the things to be seen will be: Rye grass as a cover top, an emergency pasture of clover grass, rye grass, Ladino clover and alfalfa, strip cropping, Ladino clover second crop, Calf Club project, home beautification, Holstein and Guernsey dairy herds, pasture improvement, and bull pens.

The tour, from start to finish, will cover a total distance of about 50 miles. The group probably will enjoy its annual basket picnic, midway in the day, at Snyder's Grove, just north of Grand Valley. J. E. R. Dickey, of State College, will accompany the farmers to help explain each project on the program.

COMING AND GOING

Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Persing, of Clarendon, have returned from a two weeks visit in Ohio, where they were guests of their daughters, Mrs. Clarence Ecklund and family of New Middletown, O., and Mrs. Paul Warner and family, of Kent, O. They also visited Mrs. Persing's brother, Clint Hughes, in Franklin.

Miss Ruth Dravo, daughter of Mrs. Helen J. Dravo, Fifth avenue, has arrived home after a two weeks visit in Chicago.

Miss Molly Sue Williams, of Morristown, N. J., has arrived to be the house guest of Miss Eleanor Conar at "Valleybrook," Jackson Run Road.

John W. Wright, who was graduated last week from Ohio State University, has arrived to be the guest of his grandmother, Mrs. W. W. Wright, East street.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Dillon, of Buffalo, and Justice Robert H. Jackson, of Washington, D. C., were weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Conar.

Miss Evelyn Ekey is spending the week at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ekey, Rt. 3, Warren.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Spicer, of New York City, were weekend guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Demel, 104 Grant street. Mr. Spicer is a chief machinist's mate in the U. S. Navy and on his return he will be stationed in Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Austin Stafford, of Buffalo, N. Y., and Mrs. Florence Stafford, of Randolph, N. Y., were also guests at the Demel home.

Donald Day, Richard Day and Byron Lindell, all of Lander, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Buffington in Pittsburgh.

Mrs. James Underwood and daughter, Mary Catherine, of Cleveland, Ohio, who have been visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John H. James, for the past three weeks, returned home Sunday, accompanied by her sister, Elizabeth James, who will spend a vacation with them.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Corbett, Fifth avenue, are Miss Virginia Corbett, of New York, and Mrs. Sidney Corbett, of Los Angeles, Calif.

How casually we dismiss the nervous and unstable by describing them as "neurotic" and after that avoiding them as much as possible.

Skilled medical diagnosis often reveals the startling fact that such persons are actually physically ill. Obscure infections, destroying red corpuscles, a lack of some important health element may render any man or woman nervous to the point of incompatibility, a source of unhappiness to all around them.

The doctor is trained to discover these obscure ailments, the druggist is trained to compound the specific properly. Do not neglect "nerves." Let trained men perform their job of restoring balance and sanity.

Local Potato Growers Get Good Returns

Warren County growers received $20,170 for the 73,165 pecks of potatoes they moved to consumers through the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers Association during the past season, it was reported today by P. D. Frantz, president.

Cash returns to 848 grower-members throughout the state totaled $1,324,065, with the relatively high rate of return made possible by a "stream-lined" marketing system developed with the active cooperation of food chains, Frantz said. Under this system, costly and unnecessary stages in moving potatoes from grower to consumer were eliminated to the point where 60 per cent of members' output was trucked direct from farms in 45 Pennsylvania counties to nearby retail stores—by-passing central markets and even chain warehouses, he explained.

"Wider use of direct delivery helped the association to boost total sales to 4,918,499 pecks in the 1941-1942 season, 47 per cent above the preceding year. Markets never before reached were developed through regional farm-to-store programs inaugurated by producers working closely with A & P Stores, American Stores, Economy Stores, the Kroger Grocery and Baking Company, and other distributors," Frantz said. He declared that the direct delivery program, with its attendant reduction in marketing costs, helped potato growers marketing through the association to receive 80 cents of the retail dollar on the average during the past season, well above the national average share.

Individual growers have reported that use of the association's marketing facilities brought extra profits up to $1,000 a piece for the year, the cooperative's president disclosed. He estimated that the 848 grower-members shared about $250,000 more for their potatoes than they would have received by selling through dealer-operated central markets.

Careful grading and packing in easily identified consumer-sized bags has helped materially in increasing sales for members in the past few years, the report showed. There has been a steady increase in both sales and membership since 1936-1937 season, when the cooperative moved only 1,428,652 pecks for 223 growers in 35 counties, Frantz pointed out.

Local Center Inspected By Mercer Group

Nine members of the civilian defense organization from Mercer county paid a visit to the Warren county control center today to inspect the local set-up prior to the installation of a control center in that county.

The Mercer group came here upon recommendation of state civilian defense officials, it was stated. In the group were the following: Father James F. Murphy, of Sharon, and W. M. Pollard, of Mercer, members of the county civilian defense executive committee; Capt. G. F. Fischer, chairman of the county defense council; James Bailey and Frank D. Fair, of Sharon, and D. K. Callahan, of Greenville, county commissioners; Roger M. Ormond, of Grove City, executive secretary of the defense council; Capt. Edward Young, commander of the Mercer county control center, and Melvin A. Blair, chairman of the Greenville defense council.

BANK SHOTS

BY FLOYD PASSINGER, Sports Editor

Something we forgot to mention in yesterday's column is that the best ball-an-strikes umpire east of the Ohio state line in this section of the Keystone state, Dick Pearce, is recovering in the Warren General Hospital from an appendectomy performed Friday last week. Dick will be lost to the Sunset League as its chief-man-in-blue for the remainder of the season. . . . Right at a time when umpires are slightly more valuable than a dime a dozen, also. . . . Meanwhile, Mike Blech becomes the chief among the arbiters, but Mike, because he wears glasses, won't don the mask and call 'em behind the plate. . . . Three umpires will be needed for the playoffs, so if anyone has any suggestions, let's hear them quickly. . . . Steve Kovach of Bracken Heights gets a chance to chalk up another victory in the Pennsylvania Golf Association's one-day handicap tourneys when the fourth of a series of six is held tomorrow at South Hills club in Pittsburgh. . . . Kovach has won two of the first three, and tied for honors in the other. . . . Although there still are enough wrinkles in the way to cover a bowlful of prunes, plans are under way to bring all the big gallopers together on Columbus Day at Belmont Park for a horse olympics that would include just about everything but the hop, skip and jump. . . . Such an event would be entirely for the benefit of the Army and Navy relief funds and the U. S. O. . . . Lancaster has named Miss Mary Ann Jenkins "Miss Baseball." She missed only one of the 65 home games the Lancaster Red Roses of the Interstate League played at home last year. . . .

The club publicity man overlooked mention of this in yesterday's first story about the C. V. C. C. annual golf championship tourney now in its first round, but Hank Fisher claimed medalist honors with a 75. . . . Tim Creal had 78, Bill Rice, 81, and Johnny Trevenen, 84, placing in that order. . . . Mike Getto, who will succeed Jack Sutherland as coach of the professional football Brooklyn Dodgers, got his start on the gridiron at Jeannette High. . . . Mike was an All-America tackle under Sutherland at Pitt. . . . The season's not over yet but Southpaw Aaron Kaye, Bradford pitcher, already has set a new team strikeout record. . . . His mark of 135 surpassed by four that of Joe Belforti, who won 17 games for the Bees last year. . . . The Bees are bouncing around in fifth place in the PONY League this summer, a far cry from last year's club which pressed Jamestown for the loop bunting. . . . With Ed Hasler leaving the middle of this month for Pottsville High to accept his new position as physical instructor (incidentally, remember we told you he wouldn't be around this burgh come fall), looks like "Heinie" Kolpin will be running any city tennis tournament which may unfold, by himself. . . . The Bloomsburg State Teachers College softball team found itself one man short recently. . . . A league rival lent the Teachers a player, and he promptly collected two hits and drove in the winning run in an extra inning. . . . Historical note: The Pittsburgh Pirates downed and defeated Brooklyn last Saturday. . . . It was a wonderful triumph for the Frisch freshmen despite the fact they were licked twice by the Bums on Sunday.

S-W TEAM IN 7-2 VICTORY OVER CENTER

At long last—it was a lapse of 11 days without a softball game due to last week's flash floods—the City Softball League resumed play last evening with Struthers-Wells and the Recreation Center battling, and finally the plant workers emerged from an encounter with the first half champions, victors by a 7 to 2 count.

It was the second defeat handed to the Center all season long, the K. of C. able to stop them once during the first half, and the triumph pulled Struthers-Wells into the first place in the second half running.

NELSON TOPS HEAFNER FOR FIRST MONEY

Chicago, July 28.—(P)—Byron Nelson, one of the greatest of modern linksmen, was homebound today with $2,500 in his hip pocket, once again having demonstrated that when the big money is on the line he virtually is unbeatable.

The demonstration came as the grand finale to that golfing circus known as the Tam O'Shanter $15,000 Open Tournament. . . . Yesterday Nelson crushed big Clayton Heafner of Durham, N. C., by four strokes in their 18-hole playoff for the championship of the dullest of all golf events. The pair had tied at the end of the regular 72 holes, with totals of 280.

As though to atone for his unaccountable lapse of the previous day, when he soared to an inglorious 70 on the fourth round, the ex-Texas took Tam O'Shanter's soggy acres apart with a 67—five under par—to send Heafner down for the count.

Not that Heafner weakened. The big fellow stayed in there gamely all the way to score his 71. . . . Aside from his one terrible round, Nelson shot these scores at Tam O'Shanter: 67-71-65-67-270. . . . Nelson and his wife were enroute to their Toledo, Ohio, home today. Forbes Field Fights Attract 18,574 Fans; Ezzard Charles Wins

BY GILBERT STALEY
Pittsburgh, July 28.—(P)—Mose Brown, the McKeesport negro who was booked to meet Light Heavyweight Champion Gus Lesnevich a few weeks ago, wore a patch on his left eye and a dazed look on his face today, after losing a unanimous decision to Anton Christoforidis of Cleveland in the main bout of an all-star fight card at Forbes Field last night. . . . Brown, whose main claim to recognition is a dangerous right hand, had little chance to use it against Christoforidis. The former NBA light heavyweight champion, weighing 167 to Brown's 171, had Brown tied up all evening and won all but two of the 10 rounds on the Associated Press score card. . . . A crowd of 18,574, including 223 service men, watched the show, which was preceded by a 90-minute vaudeville entertainment. The Rooney-McGinley enterprises reported a gross take of $47,486.03. . . . Results in the four matches preceding the main bout, all of which were scheduled 10 rounds: . . . Ezzard Charles of Cincinnati, 162, knocked out Booker Bledsoe, 171, Chicago, in 2 minutes and 19 seconds of the ninth round. . . . Fritz Zivic, 148½, of Pittsburgh, former welterweight champion, was awarded a technical knockout over Norman Rubio, 147, of Albany, N. Y., at the start of the 9th round. . . . Harry Bobo, 206, of Pittsburgh, won a technical knockout over Claudio Villar, 204½, of Spain, in 2 minutes and 18 seconds of the fifth round. . . . Joey Maxim, 183, of Cleveland, won the decision over Curtis Sheppard, 181½, of Pittsburgh. . . . The fight which brought the crowd to its feet was that between Charles and Bledsoe, two negroes. Charles led all the way, knocking out Bledsoe suddenly in the ninth. He crossed a right to Bledsoe's jaw, followed with a left and Bledsoe's head bounced when it hit the canvas. It was several minutes before he could be revived. . . .

Bettina, Gus Dorazio Bout Is Postponed

Philadelphia, July 28.—(P)—Mello Bettina's on deck for his last fight for the duration and he's hoping for his parents' sake—his 10-round bout with Gus Dorazio goes through tonight at Shibe Park. . . . Weather caused postponement of the battle last night and should the same come up again, it'll be a much sadder Bettina family when the Beacon, N. Y., heavyweight enters the army Thursday at Camp Upton, L. I. . . . Mello has planned to turn over his entire purse to his parents to keep them comfortable while he's in the army. But the Phils have a baseball game scheduled in Shibe Park tomorrow night and that means no Bettina-Dorazio fight at all if the battlers don't finish their business this evening. . . .

MRS. MURDOCK TAKES A CASE

Beyond Their Depth
[T TOOK quite a while to exchange stories with all the accompanying details. Joyce told everything except the finding of the man in the closet, but Delia, although she gave all her impressions had very little to add. She had opened the door, and someone—Raeburn, probably—had been waiting behind it. . . . "He hit you?" Joyce asked. . . . "He threw something over my head. His coat. I imagine. He must have hit me—there's a little bump on my head and it's sore—but I didn't feel it at the time. I don't remember it anyway. I thought I'd just fainted. . . . "Stand up," Joyce ordered. "and let's see if you're all right." "Of course I'm all right." . . . Joyce watched her and decided she was. She was glad of this because she had made up her mind. It would be pretty horrid for Delia but it had to be done. She took a breath and stood up. "Come on, sit down," he led her way to the other room. . . . She put Delia in the leather chair but before she could speak the girl gave a quick gasp and pressed her fingers to her mouth as though to stifle it. . . . "But, Joyce. . . ." Her eyes were wide and startled now. "It wasn't Raeburn! He's not the one that came last evening! It was another man." . . . "I know." "But what does it mean?" "What?" . . . "Wait," Joyce made her voice calm and took out cigarettes. She was deliberately silent until Delia had a light; then she said: "You mustn't let it get you, but I think you'll have to know. There's a dead man in that closet." . . . "Oh," Quick alarm flicked at Delia's face, but she had rebuilt her forces well and she accepted the announcement with relative calmness. "Oh," she said again, her voice remote. . . . "And when you're ready," Joyce said, "I think you should look at him and see if he's the one." . . . "I'm ready now." . . . Joyce watched the girl stand on her feet. "It's not a pleasant sight." . . . "I'm all right," She lifted her chin and smiled sardonically. "Really, I think I've been conditioned for most anything now." "Good girl."

The Same Man
JOYCE stepped to the closet and opened the door. She realized then, that she, too, had been conditioned. Everything was different now. Before, her nerves had been strained and raw because of her fears for Delia, and terror had struck with warning; now she was prepared. There was a job to do and she tried to face it with reasonable objectivity. . . . The closet, she saw, was large, with rough shelves along either side. On the left there had been filled with stacks of paper-filled manila folders. On the right there were some books and supplies—a quart bottle of ink, boxes of envelopes, packages of paper. At the back of the closet and between the shelves was an old wooden filing cabinet, or rather a section of one, which was perhaps three feet long and eighteen inches high. It was against this that the man sat. . . . His feet were spread the legs forming a wide V, and although his body sagged in the middle his head was tipped back, the neck resting against the edge of the filing cabinet so that his face had an upward tilt. It was difficult now to imagine what he had been like in life, but to Joyce it seemed that he had been plumpish, not too tall, with a round face and thin brown hair of no particular shade. Above one ear she thought she could see a tiny hole, although she was not sure and would not lean down to find out: the other side of the face was simply one great reddish stain. . . . "Yes." . . . Joyce turned, realizing she had been so intent in her own study that she had not heard Delia come up behind her. . . . "He's the man, I'm sure of it." . . . Joyce eased Delia away from the doorway, seeing the whiteness around her mouth, but not with relief the controlled steadiness of the brown eyes. She closed the door. . . . "What should we do?" Delia asked. . . . "I think we should telephone Jack Fenner." . . . "Oh?" . . . "And I think we've got to call the police." . . . "I mean it, Look, darling." She motioned Delia back in the chair and stood in front of her, slim and straight in her checked tweed coat, her hands thrust deep in the pockets, her eyes somber in the shadow of her hat brim. "Here are a couple of rankst amateurs trying to figure out a murder all by ourselves, and without getting involved. It doesn't make much sense, does it?" . . . "Asking Fenner" . . . "I suppose it doesn't," Delia said wearily. "Only—" . . . "I know," Joyce said, "but let's think it out. We've confided in no one, and naturally no one can help us. Neither of us has the faintest idea of who killed Perry Clarke. We've decided it wasn't Ward—not logically, but because we've made up our minds not to admit it. Kent might have helped us but we wouldn't tell him; your uncle Dean might have helped. We've even been naive enough to think that we could keep on skirting the edges indefinitely without being caught at it by the police. And now we have two murders on our hands. If we're getting beyond our depth, I'm also quite sure that you are a lot more involved than you imagine." . . . "Why do you think Lieutenant Bacon asked you to look at that cigarette case this morning?" . . . Delia looked puzzled. The hair on the side opposite the part had fallen across the angle of her forehead and she shook it slightly and pushed it back. . . . "You had a drink with Clarke," Joyce said. "You must have left your fingerprints on that glass. You definitely left them on the cigarette case." . . . Delia accepted this with resignation. "You knew it," she said. "That's why you asked to see it." . . . "But you see what I mean. They must know by now that you were in Clarke's apartment. You can't deny it and you'll have to tell them something. I believe you could tell the whole story—except the part about seeing Ward's car—without making it any worse for yourself." . . . Delia thought it over. She looked at Joyce, studying the direct and steadfast eyes. When Joyce talked like that you had to listen. The quiet good sense of the arguments impressed her and she was reassured. . . . All right. Whenever you think is best." . . . Joyce went to the desk and picked up the telephone. . . . "I don't say we should tell the police but I think we should be ready if we have to. I think we should ask Jack Fenner and do what he says."

1. Allan Pinkerton, a detective, appointed head of the intelligence service under General George B. McClellan in 1861, served until McClellan's removal from command in November, 1862.
2. Brigadier General Harold George.
3. Lincoln served as a captain in the Black Hawk War. Monroe was a major in the War for Independence and McKinley with the same rank in the War Between the States. Theodore Roosevelt was a colonel in the Spanish American War.
4. "Get out of bed."
5. Judge Advocate General's department.
6. President Washington accompanied the troops to suppress the Whiskey Insurrection in 1794.
7. The designation of rank of a lieutenant colonel is a silver oak leaf.
8. Seven medals are awarded for valor and service in the Army of the United States.
9. Following an Act of Congress in 1794 an additional stripe as well as a star was added to the flag upon the admission of a new state to the Union. Fearing that too many stripes would spoil the true design of the flag, Congress passed a law in 1818 returning the flag to its original design of 13 stripes and providing for a new star to be added as additional states came into the Union.
10. Associate Justice Frank Murphy of the United States Supreme Court on leave is a lieutenant colonel in the Army.

Make Sure Your Home Rates A "V"

By NEA Service
Washington, July 26—Now's the time to study up and stock up on the essentials of home defense. If by any chance you haven't done so already. For some day soon one of your local defense officials is coming around to ask you about your war effort. And if you pass muster, you'll be awarded a "V Home" certificate in the form of a window sticker.

It's something no home will want to be without.

Inspection of all property will be subject to consent of the owner or occupant, of course. It will include a check-up on such black-out, shelter-room and fire-fighting equipment as has been deemed necessary to local needs.

Other qualifications of a V Home are conservation of food, clothing, transportation and health; salvage of war - essential materials; a pledged refusal to spread rumors designed to divide the nation; regular purchase of War Bonds and Stamps.

In addition to the V Home muster, Civilian Defense officials will award to properly protected business places, hotels and large apartments in strategic areas a sticker attesting that "Air Raid Precautions Have Been Taken Here." Such certificates are already available.

V Home stickers will be ready in about 30 days.

That gives you ample time in which to get letter-perfect one of the most important lessons Mr. and Mrs. Average American have ever been asked to learn.

Britain's War Brain

A NATIVE of France, he became a member of the Royal Artillery in 1902, served through World War I and under Gen. Gort early in this war. Was one of the last to escape from Dunkirk.

LIKE many other British officers, he's renowned as a sportsman, one of few men to spear a wolf from horseback. Expert photographer and marksman—for which he was dubbed "The Wizard."

BOLD strategy and innovation in warfare are espoused by Brooke. Chief interest is the artillery; military men have acclaimed his barrage map for directing artillery fire.

Wide World Features
In civilian dress, Gen. Sir Alan Brooke might be taken for a conservative business man instead of chief of the British Empire's General Staff. But this 58-year old fighter is a veteran of two wars, a hero of Dunkirk, and one of the ablest strategists of the war. He's head of the chief-of-staff committee, which bosses British armed forces, from RAF to Commando.

ASSOCIATES and men regard him as a strict disciplinarian, but admire his aggressiveness. Of possible Nazi invasion of England he said last September: "We'll throw them back in the sea."

SPECIAL FILM

"Your Air Raid Warden" is the subject of an interesting short film which is to be shown at the Library Theatre here tomorrow and Thursday, it was announced today by Manager George Sarvis. This film should be of special interest in view of the civilian defense activities here.

IN HARRISBURG

More than 300 high school principals and school superintendents today opened a three-day discussion of "education for war and peace" in Harrisburg, according to an Associated Press dispatch. Superintendent of Borough Schools John G. Rossman and W. J. Summerville, assistant superintendent of Warren county schools, left this morning to attend the meeting.

GASOLINE PRICE WAR ON IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, July 28 (P)—A gasoline price war appeared to be developing among independent dealers here today as sales under the permanent rationing plan continued to drop.

Several dealers reduced their prices to 20.8 cents a gallon for the regular grade. The ceiling price is 22.4.

Officials of the Office of Price Administration said they could do nothing about the price reductions, but added that dealers would be asked to maintain ceiling prices.

News From Southland

By Sgt. Elmer Springer

Camp Livingston, La., July 22.—Here it is time for another column and it looks like quite a lot of gossip is in store for you. The boys down here have been cutting quite a few different figures and therefore this little scandal sheet goes to town.

To begin with, the heat down here is just exactly the same as it has been for the last two weeks. It is no strange sight to see the men coming in from drill go tearing into the lavatory and stick their heads under a cold water spigot and let it run all over their head and if it should happen to run down their necks they don't even seem to mind it. Oh well, it is one way of cooling off and it really does feel good after being out in the sun all day.

A number of the boys just returned from furlough and we received very favorable reports on the old home town and sure were glad to hear that the folks back home are giving everything they can to help out. You know this is quite a job we have on our hands and it sure makes us feel better to know that you are all thinking of us and are behind us in every way possible. The letters have been coming in here in fine shape and so we cannot kick on that, but don't forget we still want to hear from you even though we do get home on a short furlough.

Well, we will try and tell you a little of the different things that are going on here in camp. First of all, the boys are all very anxious to get home on furlough. It seems that there is something about those Pennsylvania hills that really stays with a fellow and he never gets over it. Of course there is absolutely no other reason why they would want to come home. Women don't mean a thing to the fellows. We wonder.

It seems that we have a corporal in the outfit who has two bodies. Corporal Richard Yaegele, who was right here in camp, was reported to have been seen riding down Pleasant township road with a very becoming young damsel. Now we are still trying to figure out how the corporal can get from Louisiana to Pennsylvania so fast and if he would be so kind as to tell us we might all be able to come home for more vacations. This is really on the level, although we must admit that it turned out to be a mistaken identity.

It seems that one of our cooks went to town the other night and ran into a couple of very hard doors. We don't know what the other doors look like but we sure do know what the cook looks like and we must admit whatever hit him was really hard and awfully heavy. The name of the unlucky one is left out of this column for very obvious reasons.

It seems that since my last column Pfc. Earl E. Rossman has been receiving untold numbers of inquiries from the home front asking what happened to his pants. The situation to date has not changed. Rossman is still without his denim trousers, although he does have a spare, thank goodness. He requests that anyone seeing the whereabouts of one suit of denim trousers 32 by 32 will please notify him at once as he will pay the grand sum of exactly one pin and ten milk bottle caps for their safe return. Of course, we are under a slight handicap here due to the fact that there are a few other men who wear trousers that look identical with those the unfortunate Rossman lost.

It is with deep regret that this organization announces the last of its old officers' transfers. Lt. Russell J. Kelley, of Warren, and Lt. Ralph G. Pritchard, of Georgia, who have been with the organization for many months have been transferred to an undisclosed station and we surely hated to lose them. However, we know that regardless of where they go they will always remember the boys they left behind and that they will come back to see us again, be it on the field of battle or back in our homes. We wish them all the luck in the world and hope to see them again soon.

Word has been received here that our two first officers' candidates are about to graduate as second lieutenants. Sgt. Joseph L. Schearer and Sgt. Allan L. Lawson. We wish them great success and hope that they will make the kind of officers this country needs, fine and outstanding.

It seems that cupid has struck again. One of our Warren boys, although not stationed with this organization, was married while home on furlough. Pfc. Eugene Smith of Hq. Det. is now married and we wish him all the luck in the world. It sure is funny how cupid starts spearing men about this time of the year and since this war has started he seems to have gone absolutely mad. Oh well, who knows, maybe any one of us here may be next.

Our first sergeant returned from furlough yesterday and we are still wondering what they did to him back home. He came glowering into camp and looked very stern, so we all took it kind of easy on him, so today we received our very first good smile from him since his return. We don't know what is the matter but could it be that he left his wife in Warren. There goes that love angle again.

According to the papers they are getting this WAAC quite well under way. Well, we think it is a good idea and that there should be more of it but what we are waiting to see is the girls dashing through one of our obstacle courses. This really is going to be something. We don't intend this as a dig. It's all in fun. More power to you, girls, and keep 'em rolling.

It has been some time since your truly has seen home but it seems from all reports that it is rather wet up around there. For some reason or other, I think they have switched things around here. We are supposed to be in the low country and back home is considered as being quite well elevated. Oh well, everything happens while we are away from home.

By the way, I thought it would be wise to warn all of the girls back home to be on the lookout for two sergeants who are home on furlough. The first with full description is Sgt. Lester G. Arthurs. Height, six feet; age, old enough; weight, just right; eyes blue; hair, very ruddy; after he reads this column it will be very ruddy and it won't be with embarrassment either. Now take it easy Sarge, I'm just kidding. The second, Sgt. Robert W. Johnson, Blonde, medium height, old enough, and quite handsome, (at least he thinks so). These two men should be watched very closely as they are definitely swell guys and are intent on having a swell time, so remember me fellows while you are there at home.

It seems that every time someone makes the headlines in this column that it is mentioned to me by them. Now I really can't figure out why it should be because all I do is write what my eyes see and my ears hear but they just don't seem to understand. Oh well, such is a columnist's life I guess, and I like to see the look on their face when they read about themselves.

By the way our barbers are still in business and the folks back home want to watch their step as one of them is on the loose and who knows maybe even you will be next to undergo the horrible ordeal. Time grows short and minds grow weary so with this parting shot I will close this column. All of us feel better when we return from home. We definitely like your effort to help us in our cause. Keep up the good work.
